MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Support

SUBJECT : Office of Training Weekly Report

1. Courses

a. Advanced Intelligence Seminar

The 14 March-3 April running of the Seminar will focus on world, national, and organizational forces which impact on the Agency and its mission. This is particularly challenging given the imponderables of national and world adjustments to the "post-Vietnam" phase in world affairs, and the concurrent organizational changes in CIA and interest in new methodologies. In addition to such "tried hands" as

[redacted] there will be several new speakers, including [redacted]

Science Training Staff. This interagency course is designed to provide an overview of the various information handling systems in the Intelligence Community and to teach basic skills and their application in the storage and retrieval of intelligence information.

c. COS Seminar

The Seminar which ended on 16 February was one of the most successful in terms of student participation and interest. An added fillip was provided by the timely naming of Mr. Colby as the DD/P the day before he addressed the Seminar. On 16 February, the class had a question-and-answer session with Mr. Karamessines in what may be his last appearance in an Agency training course. General Wa was the closing speaker. The oral-critique session which followed provided material for some adjustments to the next running scheduled for 9-20 April.

d. Counterterrorist Course

Fifteen officers attended the course held at the 12-16 February. They were from the Agency (7), Secret Service

(4), and the Department of State (4); their overall performance was excellent.

e. Fundamentals of Supervision and Management

The 14th running of the course was held, 12-16 February, with 36 students in attendance. For the first time, the course included a presentation on the subject of alcoholism which consisted of a showing of the movie "The Other Guy," followed by a lecture and discussion session with [REDACTED], SAS/OP, on the Agency's approach to the problem of alcoholism. Initial reaction to the presentation was enthusiastic and we plan to include it in future runnings.

2. General

Another item related to language development and its costs was surfaced at the 16 February meeting of the Interagency Language Roundtable when the Office of Education representative reported on a drastic cut in their budget which may eliminate support for many on-going and proposed foreign language projects in the academic community including the National Defense Education Act Intensive Language Program. This could indirectly impact on the Agency by affecting the number of language-qualified people we will be able to recruit in the future.

b. Our language training program is making increased use of both

[redacted] of late. During the past two weeks, four groups

25X1A

were in session at [redacted] is already booked solid for the next two months.

c. We are undertaking a feedback study on the Managerial Grid in an effort to measure its impact on the Agency over the years. A target group of approximately 130 employees has been identified based on percentage of attendance from each Directorate in all the Managerial Grid Seminars conducted during the four-year period, October 1968-1972. Questionnaires, now being drafted, will be sent to the target group to gather data for the study.

d. On 13 February, [redacted] of the Support School met with [redacted] and the Training Officers from all the Support Directorate offices to discuss the Support Services Review: Trends and Highlights Course. Of particular concern was whether or not the Support Career Services were encountering any difficulties in meeting their student quotas for each course. Based on the figures supplied by the Training Officers as to the numbers of employees currently on board who will be eligible to attend future courses, it is our judgment that the course should continue for at least another three years.

25X1A

e. In an effort to provide better and more select information on external training opportunities, the Instructional Support Staff conducted a survey among the component Training Officers regarding the dissemination of external course announcements. There was 100% return of our questionnaires, showing wide interest in a variety of subjects.

3. Notes

On 13 February, the Information Science Training Staff briefed Mr. George P. Pickett of the Net Assessment Group, NSC, on the objective and content of the Information Science Training Program. . . . Agency enrollment in the 5-23 March running of the Foreign Affairs Executive Seminar now stands at five: one each from OC, OS, OER, and two from NPIC. . . . The National War College has accepted the Agency's four nominees for the 1973-74 session. They are:
